T H E T R U M P E T

a letter from the pastor

Albert Camus, the French/Algerian author, philosopher wrote The Fall, a story of a lawyer in Paris who stood by watching as a young woman jumps into and drowns in the river Seine. Watching her drown haunted the young man for his failure to save her. The man was on the brink of suicide when one evening he found himself on the same bridge; at the same place he witnessed that terrible loss years prior. In his pain he speaks; “Oh, young woman, throw yourself into the river once again that I might save the both of us.”

Living sometimes presents us with the need to act, and act quickly. When the horror of the World Trade Center occurred, there was one man, who was responsible for saving the lives of more than 2,000 employees in one of the collapsed buildings. He calmly directed the employees out of the burning building to safety. Though the building collapsed and took his life when he returned to help others, he acted decisively and quickly for the well-being of others.

There are many accounts in the Gospels when Jesus acted quickly for the well-being of others, for which he was criticized. The church is equally tasked with the same expectation of responding to the well-being of others in times of great need and without regard to criticism. When community, world or individual disaster is apparent, it is the responsibility of the church to take action even if our own safety must be disregarded. Individuals and congregations rise to help. Our local judicatories of the church also help. National offices of the church help as well, which is one of many reasons for financially supporting our larger church.

Such needs often present themselves suddenly. When needs appear, the difference between hesitation and action may well be the difference between life and death. Camus' character had the opportunity, a brief moment, to act quickly and decisively, but he failed to act. His later years were filled with regret for his inaction. May the Church never need to live with regret for its inaction. May the Church always place the Gospel's call to service and sacrifice above its own need for survival. Oddly enough, it is that very character of our reckless commitment for the well-being of others that breathes life into who we are as the Church and Christians. The church that focusses primarily on serving, is a living church. The church that goes beyond itself is the faithful body and lives. Camus was correct. Responding to other's needs is what will save us both. It is what Jesus taught us to do.

Amen.

Peace, Don

*For you formed my inward parts;
you knitted me together in my mother's womb.
I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made.
Wonderful are your works; my soul knows it very well.
My frame was not hidden from you, when I was being made in secret, intricately woven in the depths of the earth.
Your eyes saw my unformed substance; in your book were written,
every one of them, the days that were formed for me,
when as yet there was none of them.*

Marjorie Gebauer

Dec. 21, 1922 - July 22, 2023

Beloved member of First Presbyterian Church

Marjorie was born December 21, 1922, in Akron, Colorado, to Lois and Frank Ruhaak. Marjorie attended Golden Rod Grade School and High Prairie High School where she played on the girls' basketball team. After the school closed, she worked doing housework for a neighboring family, custom ironing for many locals, and on her family's farm.

In 1941, Marjorie met the love of her life, Wilferd Gebauer, at the roller skating rink in Rago, Colorado. They were married on September 26, 1942, in Fort Morgan, Colorado. The couple farmed southwest of Akron until Wilferd was drafted into the Navy during World War II. After the war, they resumed farming in Colorado until 1962, when they homesteaded their farm in Paul, Idaho. They farmed together until Wilferd's death in 1998. While her preference was keeping a loving home, gardening, and raising chickens, she was also a skilled farmhand. From setting water to driving spud truck to working hogs she could do it all and without a hair out of place. Marjorie resided on the farm until 2014, when she moved to Twin Falls. Marjorie and Wilferd were the proud parents of three children: Darlene, Ellouise, and Vernon and enjoyed 56 wonderful years of marriage. In addition to working side-by-side, they enjoyed being 4-H leaders and traveling to pork producer conventions together.

Marjorie was a member of the Idaho and National Women's Pork Producer's Council, the Cowbelle's, and a 4-H leader for over 40 years. As a 4-H leader, she taught many members cooking and sewing skills ranging from beginner to advanced projects. Marjorie's love of sewing and cooking has been shared by her own children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren well beyond her years as a 4-H leader.

She herself loved to enter cooking and sewing projects at the fair which she continued until the age of 99 and won numerous awards over the years. Last but not least, Marjorie was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church in Burley and Twin Falls. Her diverse life experiences made her a perfect mix of faith, strength, courage, kindness, and plenty of spice.

Marjorie was adored by many, especially her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

She will be greatly missed!

CHURCH SCHOLARSHIPS

We are pleased to announce two recent recipients, Elias Halsell and Brendan Mix

The Scholarship Committee has been hard at work these last few months with regards to scholarships! The local church has numerous endowment funds that allow us to use the earnings on the endowments towards scholarships.

Elias Halsell

Elias received a scholarship to assist him with his final semester over this past Summer. He has obtained a B.A. in Communications from Boise State University, where he completed most of his classes online. He and his fiancé, Keelie, are currently working in Twin Falls, but plan on moving to the Seattle area where Elias has submitted job applications in the Public Relations field.

Brendan Mix

Brendan graduated from Jerome High School in May and has already been taking numerous classes at the College of Southern Idaho. He plans on obtaining an associates degree in marine biology in the Fall of 2024 and then advancing on to complete his undergraduate degree at another university/college.

Both of these young men are hardworking individuals and a delight to visit with! We wish them all the best in their endeavors and much success. They have both promised to keep us apprised of their developments.

The Scholarship Committee is composed of Judy Pollow and Linda Howar.

This committee is a subcommittee of the Faith Committee of Session.

Should anyone have any questions about these recent scholarship recipients or the committee, please don't hesitate to contact one of us!

SPECIAL OFFERINGS

September 3 - October 1, 2023
Peace & Global Witness

Peace & Global Witness Offering encourages the church to cast off anxiety and fear, discord and division, and embrace our God's mission of reconciliation to those around the corner and around the world.

Confronting hopelessness, thwarting division

Empowering congregations and individuals to become peacemakers themselves.

Through the Peace & Global Witness Offering, congregations are encouraged and equipped to find and address the anxiety and discord that is prevalent throughout this broken and sinful world.

Your impact

Equipping Peacemakers in Congregations and Around the World.

A gift to the Peace & Global Witness Offering enables the church to promote the Peace of Christ by addressing systems of conflict and injustice across the world. Individual congregations are encouraged to utilize up to 25% of this Offering to connect with the global witness of Christ's peace.

Mid councils retain an additional 25% for ministries of peace and reconciliation. The remaining 50% is used by the Presbyterian Mission Agency to advocate for peace and justice in cultures of violence, including our own, through collaborative projects of education and Christian witness.

Where does our money go?

Our gifts to the Peace & Global Witness Offering are helping our neighbors in need — those who live next door, down the street, and across the globe.

- 25% of this Offering stays with our congregation to support peacemaking and reconciliation in our own community.
- 25% of this Offering goes to our mid-council to join with other congregations to support peacemaking work in our region.
- 50% of this Offering supports the work being done by Presbyterians across the globe.

Our neighbors need us. Please give what you can to the Peace & Global Witness Offering.

When we all do a little it adds up to a lot!

It's a Beautiful Day in the Neighborhood!

Fred Rogers was an ordained minister of word and sacrament for the PC(USA) and is a notable public figure whose work around peace and reconciliation are worth remembering.

Rogers was also a pioneer in the world of Christian education and formation of young children.

The Presbyterian Peacemaking Program and the Office of Theology and Worship have partnered with the Office of Christian Formation to provide resources for celebrating Mr. Rogers Day (March 20).

Go to presbyterianministries.org to see how they have incorporated Mr. Rogers loving perspective on Christian love and spreading the gospel.

September 4th - Labor Day

Labor Day honors and celebrates the contributions and achievements of the working class. It serves as an opportunity to recognize the efforts put in by millions of workers to build a stronger economy and improve the quality of life for everyone.

The origins of Labor Day can be traced back to the labor union movement of the late 19th century, when industrial workers sought better working conditions, fair wages, and reasonable hours.

The first Labor Day parade took place in New York City on September 5, 1882, organized by the Central Labor Union. This event laid the groundwork for the national celebration of Labor Day, which eventually became an official federal holiday in 1894 under President Grover Cleveland.

In America, Labor Day is observed on the first Monday in September, marking the unofficial end of summer. We Americans celebrate with barbecues, picnics, family gatherings and a day off from work.

Hammond publishes book on lost era of fire spotting MAGIC VALLEY IN BRIEF

Kimberly's Nancy Sule Hammond has published a new book, "The Last Lookout at Dunn Peak: Fire Spotting in Idaho's St. Joe National Forest," about the lost era of fire lookouts across the state. Hammond's husband, Don, was the last fire spotter to work at the Dunn Peak Lookout in the Idaho's St. Joe National Forest, where the couple spent two summers in the early 1970s — first at an outpost about eight miles northwest of Avery in Shoshone County and then at the Middle Sister Peak tower, southeast of Avery, according to a news release.

"In 'The Last Lookout,' Nancy shares stories from those two exciting, magical fire seasons, along with their return as volunteers 37 years later. Interspersing her accounts with regional fire history as well as dangers and details of the work, she journeys back to the narrow catwalks and stunning panoramas — a place where storms are building, the landscape is dry, and any lightning strike could ignite a raging wildfire," the release said.

Hammond's paperback book is available at bookstores nationwide, or direct from Basalt Books at 800-354-7360 or online at basaltbooks.wsu.edu. The price is $22.95.

Monica Youree

Your Pastoral Nominating Committee (PNC) is eager to start working through the process of hiring a new Pastor for our church.

The first step that the committee is working on involves YOU! The church is made up of people and therefore, the committee needs to understand what the people of the church want and need in a Pastor.

We want your thoughts and ideas to help guide us through this process, especially as we put together the Ministry Discernment Profile that potential applicants will review.

Here are a few questions to spark your thoughts and input we are seeking:

- Would you prefer a full time or part time pastor?
- Should our congregation share a pastor with another congregation?
- What vision do we have for ministry?
- What expectations of duties should our pastor do? (i.e. shut ins, prepare bulletin, youth program, etc.)
- Do we expect our pastor to teach?
- What skills are important for our pastor to have?
- What needs will the pastor need to be able to deal with?
- How much experience do you expect your pastor to have?
- How long do we want the pastor to stay with our congregation?
- How important is congregation building to our church?
- Why would a pastor want to preach at the First Presbyterian Church?
- What resources in our community do we have to attract a pastor?
- How can we be creative in attracting a pastor?
- What else do we need to know as we go through the Pastor selection process?

We would like to invite you to visit with anyone on the committee. If you would rather send us an e-mail with your thoughts, please send it to mskoffer@gmail.com .

Thank you to all those who have already shared your thoughts with us!
Anytime you have questions about the process or what the committee is up to, please feel free to reach out to us!
